Message from the Program Director

Dear Industry Leaders,

I am pleased to present the graduating batch of the LL.M. in Investment and Securities Law, a specialised postgraduate program offered by NISM in collaboration with MNLU Mumbai, designed to develop industry-ready legal and regulatory professionals for the securities and financial markets.

A defining strength of this program is its strong emphasis on technical and practical competence. Students undergo intensive training through regulatory simulation labs and Bloomberg terminals, enabling them to engage directly with real-time market data, financial instruments, disclosures, corporate actions, and compliance workflows. This hands-on exposure allows students to understand how legal and regulatory principles operate in live market conditions.

The curriculum integrates securities law, investment regulation, corporate governance, enforcement, and compliance with applied learning methodologies. Through simulation-based exercises, students work on issuer compliances, intermediary obligations, market surveillance scenarios, enforcement proceedings, and regulatory decision-making, closely mirroring the expectations of professional roles in the securities ecosystem.

In addition, the program offers continuous exposure to industry experts, including regulators, senior compliance officers, legal practitioners, and market professionals. Interactive sessions, live case discussions, and practitioner-led workshops ensure that students are familiar with contemporary regulatory challenges, market practices, and evolving compliance standards.

The graduating cohort comprises students from diverse backgrounds. Each graduate has been rigorously trained to combine legal reasoning with market knowledge, data interpretation, and compliance execution, making them well-suited for roles in listed companies, securities market intermediaries, law firms, consulting practices, market infrastructure institutions, and regulatory bodies.

We invite you to engage with our students through the campus placement process and partner with NISM in strengthening the talent pipeline for the securities and financial markets. Our placement office will be pleased to facilitate interactions and provide any additional information.

We look forward to your participation in our campus placements and continued collaboration with NISM.
